

About the company:

TransMarket Iberia S.L. is Madrid based subsidiary of TransMarket Group LLC. Founded in 1980, TransMarket Group LLC ("TMG") is a privately held global proprietary trading company. TMG has made a strong financial commitment to develop and leverage technology as the foundation for executing customized trading strategies in the global exchange listed derivatives, equities, commodities and selected cash markets. We have offices located in several of the world's financial centers to meet the diverse trading opportunities in the global markets.

Job Description:

Transmarket Iberia is seeking a junior quantitative researcher to support its activities in algorithmic trading in the Madrid office.

Responsibilities:

- Develop quantitative trading models using leading edge mathematical and computational techniques.
- Backtest and implement trading strategies.
- Analyse financial data.
- Develop or extend software for quantitative trading.

Requirements:

- Graduate in Physics, Mathematics, Electrical Engineering, Statistics, Computer Science etc.
- A Ph.D. degree is appreciated.
- Strong analytical skills
- Software development skills
- Interest in financial markets and products.
- Strong communications skills in English.
- Experience with the following technologies areas is appreciated:
 - Object-oriented programming languages (C++, C#, VisualBasic ...)
 - Mathematical and statistical software (Matlab, SAS, S-Plus ..)
 - Databases
 - MS Office Tools

Contact info:

Recruiting Department: recruiting@tmgspain.com