

DUE TO THE GROWTH AND EXPANSION OF SANTANDER CONSUMER FINANCE WE ARE SEEKING A MODELER AND STRATEGY DESIGN SENIOR ANALYST, FOR THE GLOBAL DECISION SCIENCE CENTER WITH BASE IN MADRID.

REFERENCE: SCF- MAnalyst.

We are looking for highly qualified, strongly motivated professionals focussed on professional growth and development.

PROFILE

- Degree in a technical field. Master, MBA or similar is a plus.
- Clear strategic and business vision.
- Analytical and organizational skills. Technical abilities
- Fluency in English is essential and Spanish knowledge (fluently is not essential but an advantage).

EXPERIENCE

- Expert knowledge in quantitative models such as advanced time-series, multivariate logistic regression models, strategy design and econometric models that support multiple credit products.
- Experience with scoring technology in a development or research role, including developing scoring algorithms, probability, statistics and quantitative methods are required, including training in applied statistics.

FUNCTIONS

- To analyze financial institution data and perform P/L forecasts to consider all factors affecting business performance: policy, strategy, operations and economic environment.
- To design and implement new consumer lending strategies, develops key MIS, and investigates data patterns, develops conclusions and recommends corrective steps when appropriate to achieve a business objective.
- To use appropriate tools to develop and validate consumer lending models across the consumer life cycle (origination, behaviour, and collections) utilizing best in class model development practices.
- Relationship with subsidiaries and branch offices to obtain information and to resolve problems.
- Given the specific business issue, determines data and procedures best-suited to yield conclusive results, and then writes analyses documenting results.

BENEFITS

- We offer the possibility to become part of an interesting and expanding project, with a global view of the area with further international expansion.
- Highly competitive salary, depending on the candidate. Fixed + variable retribution + social benefits.